

YOUTH RESILIENCE SUMMIT

FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 2024

Sheila and Eric Samson Pavilion
The Health Education Campus, Cleveland Clinic

Lake Erie Council, Boy Scouts of America and Great Lakes Adventures is hosting a Youth Resilience Summit that will bring together professionals and community organizations for collaboration on how to minimize the impact of ACEs on the community. Working together, we will build youth resilience and help all children reach their full potential as empowered strong, healthy, happy citizens and future leaders.

The Youth Resilience Summit leverages the collective skills and expertise in the community to create and sustain safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments for all children and families, we aim to prevent ACEs and help youth overcome negative childhood experiences.

Keynote speeches, breakout sessions, and calls to action will be delivered by field experts and cover a range of topics such as:

- Suicide Prevention
- Mental health
- Special needs strategies
- Nutrition
- Working collaboratively with law enforcement
- Online safety
- Bullying
- Workforce development
- Financial literacy

GUEST SPEAKERS

Chelsea Elliot
Founder and Creator
Somocom Lab & EQ Kids Crew

Chelsea Elliot is the Founder and Creator of Somocom Lab & EQ Kids Crew. Somocom Lab's mission is to build children's confidence, resilience, and communication skills while supporting adults in creating emotionally safe and healthy environments for kids in their care. Chelsea has used her personal struggles with mental health as an opportunity to support others. As a child, she experienced trauma that turned her life upside down. This led to eating disorders anxiety, depression, self-harm, and suicidality. Through therapy, understanding how to experience and communicate her feelings, and using healthy coping strategies, she has overcome those challenges. She now wants to prevent those challenges for other children.

Desimir Mijatovic, MD
Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist
and Pediatric Pain Medicine
Cleveland Clinic

Dr. Desimir Mijatovic is a child and adolescent psychiatrist and pediatric pain medicine physician at the Cleveland Clinic. He is dedicated to alleviating the suffering of children and adolescents struggling with serious physical and mental health conditions. With his unique background and training, he is able to understand the complex but important interaction between the body and the mind and the effects of stress injury on the developing brain. In his daily clinical practice, Mijatovic is able to see the significant effect that adverse childhood experiences have on the long-term health of children and adolescents.
